

Al-Al Bayt University
Al Al-Bayt University

Course Title : Fundamental of Information System

Course Number : 902230

Credit Hours : 3

Pre requisite :

Placement :

Instructor: km_faqih , , wafa ,

Course Description :

Business information and the role of information technology in organizations, office automation, decision support systems, expert systems, data bases, end-user computing, critical analysis of business processes, analysis of computing and networking requirements, feasibility studies.

General objectives :

- 1- Explore systems elements in general and related concepts for systems and information systems as system modeling, Computer-based information system, system effectiveness ?..
- 2- Understand the fundamental concepts of information systems and explore
- 3- Enables the student to trace the development of information systems especially Business information systems from its origins until now a days.
- 4- Explores the use of information system in organization and how to take advantage of potential of electronic commerce for future development and the development of the -Information Society-.
- 5- Explores the hardware and software component for computer system and how to enhance computer system performance and explore technical topics related to hardware components.
- 6- Provide ways for organizing data information.
- 7- Introduces the student to Telecommunications and networks.

Course outline :

No Information Available...

Evaluation methodology :

References :

*Principles of Information Systems 10th Edition , Course Technology, Ralph Stair and George Reynolds

Course Schedule :

Topic _____ Hours

No Information Available...